

SEEK MURDER MOTIVE

POLICE PROBE DEATH OF HIGH SCHOOL PUPIL

Students Questioned In Investigation Of Kocher Case

Canton, O., Sept. 27.—Motive for the slaying of Lee H. Kocher, 16, McKinley High School sophomore, was being sought by Canton police today.

A number of McKinley High School students and friends of Glenn Coldren, 16, in whose home the partially clad body of Kocher was found Thursday night with a bullet wound in the head, were being questioned by police as to the habits and tendencies of the missing junior.

Kocher's body was found by Mrs. Ella B. Coldren, face downward, behind the furnace in the basement of the Coldren home after Mr. and Mrs. Kocher had inquired for their son at the Coldren home.

Mrs. Coldren fearing that something had happened to the boys, started a search after the Kochers had left and when she followed blood stains on the wall to the cellar, she saw a pair of legs protruding from behind the furnace.

"I reached down and touched one of the legs," she told police, "and then I withdrew" hastily because the boy's bare legs were cold and clammy and I realized he was dead."

Coroner T. H. Shorb viewed the body and had it removed to the undertaking parlors. The body was fully clad with the exception of the trousers, which had been removed, exposing to view the boy's underwear and a pair of black socks.

Detectives with knowledge of the conditions under which the body was found, at once started question boys with whom Coldren had been most intimate. To inquiries as to what the boys were telling when under police fire, the officers shook their heads and refused to tell what they were learning.

However, as the questioning proceeded, the detectives made ready to stage a more strenuous search for young Coldren.

Officials of a local bank told police that Coldren had drawn $189 from the institution.

Glenn was not as heavy as most boys of his height. Mrs. Coldren told police, "because he seldom took part in athletics or diversions which most boys enjoy. He never ate a bite of meat or potatoes in his life and few vegetables of any kind. He lived on a self selected diet. He never had any girl friends that I know of but listed a number of boys among his intimate friends."

An autopsy held on the body of the Kocher boy late Friday afternoon revealed the cause of death as "a bullet wound from a .32 calibre revolver, the leaden pellet entering at the point of the nose and taking a circular course around the interior of the skull finally lodging in the rear of the head."

STUDENTS HOOT AS UNIVERSITY PREXY SCORES POOL HALLS

Ada, O., Sept. 27.—President Albert Edmund Smith of Ohio Northern university was hooted at chapel service when he said dancing and poolrooms were menaces to student welfare. The speaker, after branding modern dancing as the invention of the devil, launched a tirade against the pool hall. "I would rather see three open saloons than three poolrooms," he said.

Vociferous applause, punctuated with hand-clapping and "hurrahs," interrupted him. When quiet was restored, Smith threatened to expel 100 students, men and women, whom he charged had frequented public dance pavilions near Ada and Lima. The threat of expulsion was greeted with hissing and groans and stamping of feet. "You are cowards," cried Dr. Smith above the commotion. "I dare any of you to stand on your feet and hiss."

SAY NOT ENFORCING VACCINATION ORDER

Columbus, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Norton Elliott, president of the Anti-Compulsory Vaccination league charged that the board of education is allowing children who have not been vaccinated to attend school and said Columbus physicians are sending children back to school with fake vaccination certificates and shields covering places that were never vaccinated. Some physicians are doing this because they are not in full sympathy with vaccination, Mrs. Elliott charged.

Superintendent of Schools Collicott said that as far as could be determined no children were being allowed by principals to attend schools unless they were vaccinated.

The league is completing plans to secure affidavits of deaths, ill health and injuries to persons said to have been caused by vaccination, to be used in an application for a court order restraining public school officials from enforcing compulsory vaccination, Mrs. Elliott declared.

ANOTHER ILLINOIS "LOVE PACT" UNEARTHED WHEN DEATH OF COAL MINER IS PROBED

Marion, Ill., Sept. 27.—While soldiers with fixed bayonets walked past about the Williamson county jail here, pretty 30 year old Mrs. Ruby Harrington Tate confessed here today to the murder of her first husband, Joseph Harrington, in order that she could marry Bob Tate, another miner, and "star boarder" at the Harrington home.

West Frankfort, Ill., Sept. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tate, prominent members of the Church of God of Williamson county, were arrested here early today on instructions of Sheriff George Galligan as suspects in Little Egypt's latest alleged "love pact" that resulted, authorities charge, in the death of Joseph Harrington, 34 years old, Johnston City coal miner. The couple was removed to the Marion jail.

Before her removal to Marion, Mrs. Tate, after several hours grilling at the hands of City Attorney Frank Trobago, signed a statement in the presence of witnesses and under oath, partially incriminating Tate in the death of her first husband, Harrington, whose body was exhumed yesterday afternoon.

Harrington died September 3. "Acute peritonitis," was the cause of death given at that time.

Mrs. Harrington and Tate, who was a boarder in the Harrington home, were married September 23.

PASTOR EXPRESSES DESIRE FOR LIFE AS EVIDENCE IS TIGHTENING

Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 27.—Overwhelming desire to live has come over Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, who not only poisoned his wife to death, but conspired with Mrs. Elsie Sweetin to destroy her husband, Wilford, with the same poison.

The minister who was expelled from his church yesterday, quietly sits in the dilapidated white county jail at Nashville, Illinois, still believing he has a useful life to live and fears to think of what the future holds in store for him.

"Yes," said the clergyman with his hands sunk deeply in his trouser pockets, "I want to live now more than ever—I'm sorry, so sorry—for what I've done, but I want to live. I was always until recently a good man. I never sinned before. I just can't tell how it happened or what brought it about."

But States Attorney Frank Thompson is not so sure that the pastor of Ina has led an exemplary Christian life. Today he started a comprehensive investigation. Back, way back, into the minister's life, the investigators of Jefferson County started to delve.

First they sought from elders of the Methodist faith a complete itinerary of the pastor's route of travel and the church in which he conducted services. Rumors flew thick and fast and the substance was that all has not been serene in the ecclesiastical life of the condemned pastor.

The prosecutor thought this to be of the greatest value and ordered his men to make the most searching investigation.

From early indications the pastor will throw himself on the mercy of the court and ask for as lenient a sentence as possible. Mitigating circumstances will be introduced.

That is why the state's attorney evinced so much interest in the story told by a native of Dahlgren, Illinois. He said that scandal ensued while Pastor Hight was in command of the church at Dahlgren and that the Methodist board at that time considered removing him.

Another individual later saw the Jefferson County prosecutor and stated that while driving the clergyman in his taxicab over near Centerville the defendant had told of his experiments with arsenic and how he had killed a dog with that poison. It was in that neighborhood that Grace Elliott, a high school girl and a member of Hight's flock came to her death under what were said to have been mysterious circumstances. Three snapshots of this girl were found in her room.

May File Protest.

Marion, O., Sept. 27.—Indignation here over the Pennsylvania Railroad company's announcement that there will be no more Sunday passenger trains over the Sandusky division through here after Sunday may result in a protest being made to the interstate commerce commission. Notice of the elimination of the Sunday train schedule was received by the local Pennsylvania agent this week.

the pastor's parsonage, one of them taken with Hight.

A complete investigation is being made of the death of this Centerville girl three years ago.

Hight is to be brought back to Mount Vernon late today. Interest which was at one time at feverish height, has abated.

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Sept. 27.—Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, who poisoned his wife and instigated the murder of the husband of Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, declared in his cell at Nashville, Ill., near here, that he feels he will escape the gallows and go to prison.

On being told that Judge J. C. Kern of Carmi was scheduled to determine his fate if he persists in his intention of pleading guilty and throwing himself on the mercy of the court, Hight said: "I know Judge Kern. I voted for him once when I was holding a circuit near Carmi. From what I have heard he is a good man."

State's Attorney Frank G. Thompson of Jefferson county put the final touches on his case of murder by poisoning against Elsie Sweetin and the Rev. Lawrence M. Hight.

Judge Kern of the second judicial circuit of Illinois, who lives at Carmi, is the court on whose mercy Hight will throw himself in his request for "mercy, not justice," Thompson said.

Thompson went to Nashville, where the "poisoning pastor" is in jail, to weld the final link in the chain of his evidence against the pastor. He wants to find out where the first supply of poison was bought. Hight is known to have made three purchases of poison. Much of it, however, was really used to exterminate the rats in his Ina parsonage.

Hight will be returned to the Jefferson county jail soon, Sheriff Grant Holcom said.

Clarence Darrow, famous Chicago attorney, who defended Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, epitomized his attitude towards Hight, "poison pastor," and his affinity, Mrs. Sweetin, by saying: "They should not hang; it is society's crime."

Burglars Loot Safe.

Lima, O., Sept. 27.—Burglars cracked the safe of the Marengo Banking company at Marengo, Morrow county, and escaped with a $1,000 Liberty bond, $60 in cash, $450 in stamps and 20 lock boxes containing deeds and mortgages.

Faces Murder Charge.

Cincinnati, Sept. 27.—Edmund Carroll, 23, is charged with murder in connection with the death of Joseph Moeddel, 42, a painter. Moeddel died at a hospital here of a skull fracture. He received his injuries during a drinking party, police say.

SMITH NAMED BY ACCLAMATION TO RUN THIRD TERM

Governor Given Ovation By Democrats Of New York.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Governor Al Smith was nominated for a third term by the Democratic state convention here. He was selected by acclamation.

Smith will run on a platform supporting the Democratic national program, denouncing the Ku Klux Klan by name and demanding modification of the Volstead law.

Other state officers renominated were: Lieutenant Governor, George R. Dunn, Schenectady; Secretary of State, James A. Hamilton, the Bronx; Comptroller, James W. Fleming, Troy; Treasurer, George Kent Shuler, Lyons; Attorney General, Carl Sherman, Buffalo; Engineer and Surveyor, Dwight B. La Du, Albany.

An ovation was tendered Governor Smith when he was placed in nomination. County standards were wrenched from their hooks and the cheering, singing delegates milled around the floor, while the band tried to make itself heard above the din with the governor's favorite song, "The Sidewalks of New York," and other old favorites.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a cousin of the Republican gubernatorial nominee, made the seconding speech. She raised laughter when she said: "Of course Al Smith will win. He could not do otherwise when the Republican convention at Rochester did all it could to help him."

Governor Smith made a short address in which he promised that he would wage a vigorous campaign. Praise of John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential nominee, as the ablest Democrat in the United States, condemnation of the Republican platform adopted at Rochester as the most dishonest document he had ever read and denunciation of the Republican national and state administrations brought forth thunderous applause. "You can not nominate a myth in Washington and a name in New York and get away with it," said the governor.

The party platform follows closely along the line of previous state platforms. It openly denounced the Ku Klux Klan, called for modification of the Volstead act so as to permit the sale of light wines and beer and recommended equal representation of women on party committees.

WIDOW KILLED BY SON-IN-LAW AFTER DAUGHTER WOUNDED

Cincinnati, Sept. 27.—Police are searching for Vinto Perrin, 50, a grain dealer, in connection with the murder of Mrs. Frances D. Rawson, 70, widow of a meat packer, who was shot and killed at her home here.

Perrin, Mrs. Rawson's son-in-law, is alleged to have done the shooting. Mrs. Rawson's daughter, Miss Nina Rawson, 40, was shot in the left arm and neck, but is expected to recover.

Miss Rawson said she, her mother and her sister, Josephine, were chatting in the dining room when Perrin entered. "You are trying to make my wife a slave to a bunch of boys college students. Now I need financial help, and if you don't help me I will cause a scandal," Miss Rawson said.

"We asked him what would cause a scandal and he replied by drawing a revolver and starting to shoot. He fired the first shot at me. Then he shot mother, who was sitting in her chair. The third shot he fired again at me. I called to Josephine to run out and get help and she ran out of the house. He ran out just behind her."

Police have broadcast descriptions of the son-in-law, Vinto Perrin, 50, of Norwood, who is believed to have been deterred by worry over inability to obtain backing for a grain milling establishment he hoped to start in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Police early today received a report from the conductor of a Big Four train passing through Bellefontaine that a man fitting Perrin's description had boarded the train at Winton Place, on the outskirts of this city.

Fell Forty Feet.

Cleveland, Sept. 27.—Herman Johnson, 30, was killed and another man seriously injured when a scaffold fell while they were cleaning the walls of the new public library building. Johnson's companion, Albert Coleman, 24, was taken to a hospital unconscious from his injuries. The men fell 40 feet.

Once Imogene Wilson- Now Mary Robertson!

Plymouth, England, Sept. 27.—It may have been Imogene Wilson, former Follies girl and reconciled friend of the sometimes eccentric comedian, Frank Tinney, who sailed from New York, on the liner Columbus, but it was Imogene, Mary Imogene Robertson, who left the same stateroom today when the liner reached Plymouth harbor.

"I am not Miss Wilson. I am Miss Robertson. I don't know Miss Wilson. Please don't bother me," she told International News Service, in her haughtiest manner.

Then Bobby Gray, Tinney's negro valet, who also arrived aboard the Columbus, rushed up and escorted Miss Imogene to the liner's salon where a British immigration officer looked over her passport papers.

Gray, likewise had seen no Miss Wilson during the voyage, he said.

A message from Tinney, whose music hall engagement just has been extended eight weeks, arrived as the passport inspection was concluded. It was brought by a representative of Tinney's London manager, sent at Tinney's direction to look out for Miss Imogene and guard her against newspaper photographers and reporters.

In bed with indigestion last night, Tinney announced he would be unable to meet the girl who claimed his love-making was aggravated assault, when both were in New York. He said he would be glad to see her again. But would not go out of the way to bring about the meeting.

Miss Imogene was dressed in black, except for a touch of red in the trimming of her gown. Her blonde hair peeked from beneath a black cloche hat. Her fellow passengers said Miss Imogene was seashell the first five days out, but the girl herself, still denying she was Miss Wilson, added a further denial that she had been seashell.

She kept to her stateroom most of the voyage, appearing in the dining salon but twice. She refused to dance, though eligible swains besieged her. This morning she appeared on deck, and her manner was no more approachable than that of the German countess, who also enjoyed a promenade.

A male passenger, who evidently had made Miss Imogene's acquaintance and had cast himself for the role of protector, warned the reporters to keep away and called upon fifteen other passengers to shield her from the photographers.

Miss Imogene told immigration authorities her London address would be the Ritz. She said she was "a dramatic artist" but added that she would not attempt to get a London engagement.

On the boat train to London, Miss Imogene hid herself in her compartment and refused to discuss even the fact that Mary Robertson was her name before she became a Follies beauty and took the name "Imogene Wilson."

Spurned One Fiance, Jilted by Another

Mildred G. Leather, of Everett, Mass., found Dan Cupid somewhat playful. A few years ago she amazed her friends by breaking her engagement to Herman Brown.

Now these friends are even more surprised, for at the hour set for her wedding to Fred C. Galley in the First Baptist Church the guests were sent home because the bridegroom changed his mind and disappeared.

Harper replies to Davis charges on brick plant deal.

Columbus, Sept. 27.—John E. Harper, state welfare director, answered charges of Harry L. Davis, Republican candidate for governor, in regard to the purchase of the Roseville brick plant for $35,000.

Director Harper calls it "an attempt to throw sand in the eyes of the people in the hope that they may forget the gross derelictions of the Davis administration, and is backed, apparently, by the brick trust of Ohio and adjoining states."

Attorney General Crabbe, a Republican, approved the legality of the purchase, Harper says. Following that an injunction prevented the state from issuing a voucher for the consummation of the deal. The entire transaction was open and there is nothing about it that needs defense, Harper says. He considers it a good purchase, stating that its shale deposits will suffice for a large daily output of bricks for 40 years to come.

He further states that it would be saving money for the state today had not political obstruction at the behest of the brick trust blocked it.

The purchase was made through the company's agent, T. D. Van Camp of Columbus, Harper states. This is the man from whom Davis has accused Governor Donahay of receiving gifts.

Hit by Auto Truck.

Cincinnati, Sept. 27.—William Sharling, 14, is dead from injuries received in an auto accident. The boy was struck by an auto truck while riding his bicycle.

Falling in that, he will join the Cleveland Cliff Iron Company of Cleveland in attempting to learn the fate of the freighter.

Yesterday's search in which Lieutenant L. C. Hurd, of Selfridge field, participated in an airplane equipped with pontoons, resulted in turning up not a single clue to the vessel's fate. Lieutenant Hurd went 130 miles north of Port Huron, flying from one side of the lake to the other, repeatedly without success. He did not return until late last night.

Vessel masters asked by Lynn Brothers Marine Reporting agency, at Port Huron to deviate from their courses to watch for signs of the ship, complied, but reported no success.

They were still hunting today and it was believed Lieutenant Hurd would also renew his search.

FRAUD ALLEGED BY BUTLER IN NORTH DAKOTA

Would Oust La Follette Electors In That State.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, announced that an effort will be made to oust La Follette electors in North Dakota.

This announcement came on the heels of the California supreme court decision knocking the La Follette electors off the ballot of that state. The Republican chairman charged that the La Follette leaders were trying to perpetrate a "gigantic fraud" in North Dakota.

The case will come before the supreme court Monday, Butler said. Four of the electors running on the Republican ticket are La Follette men at heart, Butler said he had been apprised. Convinced that these electors, should they win on the Republican ticket, will vote for La Follette, the supreme court has been asked to determine what right they have to continue running on the old party ticket.

A second action was filed with the secretary of state. He is asked to strike the names of these electors off the Republican ballot and substitute for them persons to be picked by the organization.

Chairman Nelson of the La Follette-Wheeler headquarters declared the court activities of the Republicans indicate they fear the strength of the independent party and are resorting to every effort to "take the franchise from the people."

As a result of the California decision, La Follette electors in that state will go on the Socialist ballot instead of independently.

At independent headquarters here it was stated that there is no serious talk in Minnesota of anyone carrying Minnesota except La Follette. County seat politicians there say, however, that when the campaign warms up that things will look different. Republican leaders expect to put more speakers in the field.

Senator Wheeler issued the following statement: "Developments are bringing us Illinois, and we already have Minnesota. Never have I encountered such an enthusiastic and widespread sentiment in behalf of a political movement as in these two states. The joint organizations of the laborers and farmers here have developed to a far greater extent than the people back east suspect."

JAP AMENDMENT IS ACCEPTED FINALLY TO ARTICLE FIVE

Geneva, Sept. 27.—British and Italian delegations to the League of Nations today accepted the compromise suggestion of Louis Loucheur, of France, that Japan's amendment be attached to article five of the arbitration protocol.

This concession to Japan was made after Japan refused yesterday to accept the arbitration protocol. The Japanese amendment, stipulates that the new arbitration provisions leave unaffected the functions of the League of Nations Council for promoting international peace. In other words, it pits the power of the council against that of the world court.

Geneva, Sept. 27.—The arbitration protocol proposed by the league of nations assembly is not to the liking of Japan, which has refused to sign the pact. M. Adachi, Japanese delegate to the league meeting, issued a statement, saying: "It is with the greatest regret that in the name of my delegation I must register complete reserve from the entire protocol."

Japan insisted upon the creation of a conciliation jurisdiction which would enable a party in the international court to appeal for review.

The arbitration agreement was to be part of the general disarmament scheme fostered by Premier Ramsay MacDonald of England and Premier Edouard Herriot of France. Nearly all nations intimated their willingness to accept the arbitration protocol. The action by Japan came as a surprise.

CLASS OF NINETY-FIVE CONFIRMED AT ST. BRIGIDS CHURCH

The Sacrament of Confirmation was conferred upon a class of ninety-five candidates, one of the largest ever to receive the sacrament here, at services at St. Brigids Catholic Church Friday evening.

Archbishop Henry Moeller of Cincinnati, making his first visit here for five years, bestowed the sacrament upon the candidates as they marched to the sanctuary with their sponsors. Eighteen adults were members of the class and the rest was composed of children, the little girls in white dresses and veils.

Archbishop Moeller lead the procession of confirmands from the main door of the church. Preceding the sacrament, he preached briefly, first referring to his recent appointment of the Rev. David Powers as pastor here, and asking for him the co-operation of members of the congregation.

He explained the Sacrament of Confirmation and said that its estowal would fill the confirmands with the Holy Spirit, to strengthen them for the battles of life so that they may resist temptation. Temptation, he said, would be represented in the world, the flesh and the devil, and he explained what he meant by each. He closed by urging members of the class to keep the Holy Spirit in their hearts.

Benediction with the Blessed Sacrament closed the services. The Rev. A. A. Burke, pastor of Corpus Christi Church, Dayton and former pastor here, being the celebrant. The Rev. Edward Quinn, of Springfield, was deacon, the Rev. Edward McGinty of Jamestown, sub-deacon and the Rev. Charles Ertle, of Wilmington, master of ceremonies.

Other visiting priests included the Rev. John Schawe of Yellow Springs, the Rev. James Ward, of the Rev. James Ward and the Rev. Joseph Graham of Dayton. The children's choir, under direction of Sister Mary Gratia, furnished the music.

Many visitors attended the services besides the members of the congregation and the church was so crowded that many were unable to enter.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

ARE THE LARGEST ENTERPRISES THE MOST EFFICIENT?

Statistical evidence usually indicates that tremendous size does not contribute to low expenses.

Studies of some industries have shown that the lowest costs of operation are not found in the largest organizations. Some economists have argued that there is a size of organization which is the most efficient. As size increases up to such a point, the cost of the operation decreases, but as the size becomes greater the cost of operation will no longer decrease, but will likely to increase slightly.

Efficient control of operation is made difficult by tremendous size. Lack of co-ordination of efforts, difficulty of proper supervision and increased routine are some of the contributing causes why large companies fall short of maximum efficiency.

EAGLES TO RECEIVE CANDIDATE CLASS

TWELVE FARMERS PRODUCE TON OF PORK IN 1 LITTER

Twelve Ohio farmers have so far this year done what a good many of their neighbors once said could not be done. They have each produced a ton of pork from one litter of pigs in 180 days.

Just a month ago Charles H. Bushelman of Fayetteville, Brown County, weighed in one sow's litter of pigs and recorded them at 2697 pounds. Now 11 Ohioans share honors with Mr. Bushelman and so become eligible for the Ohio Ton-Litter Club of 1924, an honorary organization which meets during Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University.

These are the eleven who by efficient management more than doubled the state average of pork production per sow: A. W. Zimmerman of Bloomington; J. A. Purcell and Son of Leesburg; C. A. Chrisman of Sabina; A. F. Ervin of Washington C. H.; Meryl Stormont of Xenia; Oscar Ansapach of Thornville; Charles W. Schleich of Williamsport; Alfred Spring & Sons of Galloway; G. L. Evans and Son of Mt. Orab; E. & J. W. Syder of Leesburg, and Paul Bangham of Wilmington.

None of the eleven has equalled Mr. Bushelman's record of 2697 pounds for a litter; nearest to it was the litter weighing 2505 pounds, raised by G. L. Evans, Mt. Orab, who has two ton-litters this year.

In all, 241 hogmen in Ohio have applied for membership in the Ohio Ton-Litter Club, now in its second year. Last year 34 Ohioans were made members.

The two speakers at Friday's sessions were Dr. Haven Emerson of New York and Dr. Frank Smithies of Chicago. Dr. Emerson delivered an illustrated lecture on intestinal stasis. Dr. Smithies gave some of the newer conceptions of the cause and clinical management of gastric and duodenal ulcers.

DONATIONS LARGE AND SMALL WANTED IN SCHOOL DRIVE

Believing that every citizen of Xenia should have a part in helping feed and clothe the pupils of the Opportunity School, every home in the city will be visited by canvassers of the Federated Parent-Teacher Association, Tuesday, September 30, and all donations from a nickel up accepted for the work.

Each student of Central High School will be asked to "do his bit" by a donation of five cents each.

It is hoped to secure $1,000 in the one-day "drive." There is now only $63.58 left in the treasury to pay the month's bills of the Opportunity School in the way of food and clothes. This amount is what is left of the $282.84 given the school from the Community Chest drive in 1922, and from donations from various sources.

BOOSTS CHRYSLER AFTER LONG DRIVE IN NEW MODEL CAR

William Owens returned to Florida the first of this week high in his praise of the Chrysler car, say Ankeney and Weaver, local dealers.

"The Chrysler is a wonder," said Owens, "we came over all the mountains on high gear never having to shift to second gear except on going down. We drove 1,573 miles in six and one half days averaging 242 miles a day, using eighty-two gallons of gas and averaging a little over nineteen miles to the gallon. Some of the things that were told me about the Chrysler car, I didn't believe, but I believe all that was said, now and more too."

"I think it is the greatest car on the market. It drew a lot of attention wherever we stopped. On the last big mountain there was a big car who took a run and jump at the start and passed us, (we started slow), and when we got about two-thirds of the way up, we passed it and going twenty-five miles an hour. We saw a lot of machines stopped, cooling their motors and I heard one man declare, 'Gee! Look there!'"

"I think the Chrysler has the best cooling system I ever saw, as all the other machines were boiling, but the Chrysler never got above 175 degrees on the entire trip."

"We changed the oil once and we drew off nearly as much as we had put into it. The motor does not burn the oil or waste, but uses it until it is worn out. Hoping for success of the Chrysler."

"I am a 'Chrysler Booster.'"

The Good Maxwell—The Good Friend of Its Owners

Tens of thousands of American families look upon their good Maxwell cars with a feeling akin to positive gratitude.

For the good Maxwell has enabled them to regard the motor car as something more than merely a means of transportation.

If you examine into the basic reasons for such performance, and for Maxwell's economical, care-free service, you discover that both the new transmission and new rear axle are strong and rugged enough for a truck; that the simple device of a platform spring under the front end of the motor, combined with the balancing of reciprocating parts to the fraction of an ounce, practically eliminates any sense of vibration; that in proportion to weight, it is actually stronger than cars costing two, three or even four times as much.

The good Maxwell is thus fulfilling, with almost startling success, the mission its makers proclaimed four years ago, when they announced that—"The new and powerful organization now manufacturing the good Maxwell is able to give and proposes to give, motor car values so unmistakable that they cannot remain for a moment in question."

WILL BROADCAST MARKET REPORTS

Market reports will be supplied to the livestock producers of Ohio three times daily by radio from now on, the Ohio State University announces, instead of the once-a-day service given until recently by Station WEAQ at Columbus.

It is to meet the demand for frequent and complete market reports that the University makes this change, according to C. M. Hammans, extension specialist in marketing. This is the daily program, in effect more or less experimentally since August 25.

At 9 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time), estimated receipts and holdovers for Chicago, National Stock Yards, Kansas City, Omaha, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Buffalo, and a flash of Chicago's opening market.

At 11 a.m. receipts and opening market for all of the above named markets with the exception of Cleveland Cincinnati, and Buffalo.

At 1:30 p.m., a summary of the closing markets reported at 11 o'clock; also timely announcements and agriograms of special interest to Ohio farmers.

These reports are taken from a leased government wire through the co-operation of the Columbus office of the United States Bureau of Markets. Comments on this service are sought by the university officials in charge.

VIRTUE LAUGHED AWAY

Virtue and good works are a poor defense against laughter, and Ramsay MacDonald, with his "biscuit-eating motorcar," is likely to realize this hard truth before long.

Ramsay MacDonald did much to smooth the way for a European settlement under the Dawes program. He won high credit for "a solution" of the Russian problem when all seemed lost. He went to Geneva and the League of Nations Assembly took on new life. He came home full of prestige, ready to wage the good fight support of his policies, only to find people laughing.

Few Englishmen, perhaps, will seriously find fault with the time Minister for having accepted an automobile from his friend, the biscuit king or the endowment of biscuit stock. To be sure, MacDonald had been "built up" by his friends as a statesman beyond good and evil, who was not as those publicans. His foes were probably more pleased than otherwise to find that he was as one of them—that he had been caught accepting a favor at might be connected with the grant of a baronetcy to the biscuit king.

What there was serious in the situation might have been untraced. If MacDonald had been shown to be no better than a conservative or Liberal politician, his friends might argue, he at least was no worse and he had definite accomplishments to his credit.

But there is something inevitably laughable about the automobile-biscuit combination. There is no escape from the connection of the Prime Minister with a "biscuit-eating motorcar." The pack-troops of laughter bear all before them. In vain, now his men point with pride to the results of his statesmanship. It is unnecessary for his foremen to view those results with alarm. The European settlement, the Russian agreement, the achievements at Geneva, whether good or bad, matter little to either side as long as the laughter keeps up. The gates of political Olympus cannot prevail against it.—Public Ledger.

PROCRASTINATION, THE PILFERER

All the ingenuity of the police was exhausted in a bootless attempt to snare a thief who one summer infested the suburban districts. No house was safe. No one knew where he would appear next. On one occasion the man scaled the porch posts of a house, while the dining and living rooms were thronged, and snatched the upper rooms, getting away with ten-thousand dollars in cash and jewels.

Not many of us will ever have our homes or pockets rifled by such a thief. But there is a sneak thief who dogs our steps and enters our homes and sits with us, and if we could but see him, we should see many a sardonic smile curl his lips. His name is procrastination. We resolve to pray regularly, or read the Bible daily, or we plan some high thing. It is not our purpose to cheat or ourselves. Far from it! "When I have a convenient season," said Felix to Paul. In the same spirit, we permit day to fade to night and our resolve is not executed. We have been robbed in the present, this day, this very hour—that is the time to do the good! The "convenient season" may never come.—By Rev. J. H. Allen, in Christian Herald.

"MILITANT PACIFISM"

It is a mere truism that the Royal Navy is sacred in Great Britain. The feeling is just this side of idolatry, its roots deep in the historical and economic life of the people. Even a British Government dares not lay meddlesome hands upon it. What the Washington Conference did to it was unprecedented and shocking. Heretofore the proposition that it should be reduced in proportion with the trench Army was not even seriously considered. Now some sort of vague promise has been made to "lend" the navy to the League of Nations for policing purposes. It is useless to argue that there is no intention of passing the navy command to a super-government. It is futile to remind Britishers that certain promises were made in the Covenant to come to the aid of the League with the nation's economic and military resources. The vital nerve has been touched. "Hands off the navy!" is the cry, though the possibility at they may be laid on is remote. The uproar has turned pro-seague sentiment into something not unlike out-and-out opposition. MacDonald, in his militant pacifism, has clashed with the proverbial immovable body.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

THE HOUSE MADE UGLY

"I want a home of loveliness," he told the architect; "I want the finest building which your workmen can erect; I want every window seem to smile to greet the morning sun, and let there be no jarring note when once your work is done." The house was built. No cost was spared. No jarring note was there; but which the eye finds beautiful was smiling everywhere; and then the decorators came, and once again the man said: "Furnish now this home for me as richly as you can."

They tapestried his stately walls; they stretched upon the floor rich rugs as Kings of Persia knew. They searched the country over for treasures rare with which to grace each room, and when 'twas done, ever home held loveliness that structure was the one.

And yet when he came home at night he sneered at her who smiled, and had an ugly temper and spoke harshly to his child; and none beneath that roof was glad where happiness should be, for 'tis the spirit makes the home, and not the things you see.

Man Robbed; Girl Attacked.

The inexperienced housewife is likely to neglect her sink through ignorance of the proper preventive measures which keep it in good condition. To prevent clogging of the sink-drain by grease, to say nothing of the needless labor in caring for it, it pays to scrape all soiled dishes and cooking pans into a pail before washing them. A rubber-edged plate-scraper is excellent for this task. At the end of the dish-washing, pour the water from the dish pan through a sink strainer, to eliminate any crumbs which may still have clung to china or cooking utensils.

Enamel or Porcelain Sinks are kept clean by washing with soapy water and wiping occasionally with a cloth moistened with kerosene oil. The dishpan should be mounted on rubber feet to better yet, buy a rubber mat to lie in prevent scratching the porcelain. Or the bottom of the sink, for all spots and pans to stand on. Any fine abrasive may be used on porcelain (such as sifted whiting when scratched or soiled. Kerosene is best to use in removing the curd-like deposit left on

To Clear a Sink Drain when Stopped Dissolve one-quarter of a pound of copperas in two quarts of boiling water and pour this down the drain, then flush with clear, hot water. Or, if preferred, use one pound of lye, dissolved in six quarts of boiling water, to flush the drain, followed by the boiling water. Another method is that of pouring one gallon of boiling water down the drain, followed by one cupful of kerosene to form an emulsion with the grease in the pipe; after ten minutes flush with boiling water. Never use washing soda (soda) to clear a sink drain as it combines with the grease to form a hard scap.

THE AUTUMN SUNRISE

The first thing I do in the morning upon waking is to sit up and look out of the wide window at the side of my bed into the thick wood below.

I hear the splashing of the falling water from the pool fed by the spring gushing from huge rocks that have nestled there for hundreds of years. I think of the red men who once walked about these very woods and perhaps drank from this same spring.

But it's the smell of this morning scene that fascinates me. Sometimes it is a frosty smell; sometimes a cutting frozen scent that reaches my nostrils; and sometimes through the warm rays of the sun I breathe deeply the fragrance of the honey-suckle and locust blossoms. Always there is that something in the air of this morning-lookout that refreshes all that I am.

Even more eagerly than for all else, however, I take this look for the golden sunrise that seeps through the thick tree branches and softens the day hardly before it has its eyes open. I have seen the sunrise of all the seasons and the one I love most is that which comes with the days of autumn. These approaching October sunrises, pulling the hands of those of September, have all the georgousness and richness of beauty seen in the rarest Australian opal.

And I am happy when I bear in mind that this gift of nature is no more mine than it is the poorest worker's. It is an inheritance that goes to all.

I like to rise early before the world has opened its eyes, while all is so still, and the roads are clear and free of traffic, and walk about—early enough to see this sunrise that tells of another chance, another barrel of hope delivered at my very door, and of possibilities that have been passed by or forgotten by others.

The autumn sunrise sprinkled through the colorings of gold and brown and dull scarlet reminds me anew of the beauty of this universe and of the beauty that is found in every human heart.

MYSTERY TUNNELS STILL UNSOLVED

Washington, Sept. 27.—The mystery surrounding the series of tunnels discovered beneath several blocks of Washington's exclusive residential section remains unsolved. The tunnels blocked off led to places where iron ladders and massive stone arches indicated a second and lower level, where the subterranean apartments were suspected by the original investigators. Exploration of these "leads" has been deferred to await better tools. Evidence that the tunnels may more recently have been used by bootleggers is believed by some to be increasing. This is based on the quantity of bottles found around the walling up of the approaches to the lower level. Some credit German spies with building the work, others connect it with Civil war days, while still others describe it as the rendezvous of unscrupulous plotters.

DEFENDANT WINS SUIT ON ACCOUNT

In the case of Fred L. Stephens against L. R. Finney heard in Common Pleas Court, Thursday, the jury found the issues in favor of the defendant and the case was dismissed. The plaintiff had filed suit for $182.50, alleged due on an account for certain toilet articles and a show case.

Two issues were involved in the case. The defendant claimed that she had signed notes for certain toilet articles and a show case which were to have been used in a Christmas display last year, and which arrived too late for the display, and as a result refused to pay the notes claiming the articles were mis-represented to her. The firm from which the articles were obtained has since transferred its notes to the plaintiff, who brought the suit in order to force them. J. K. Williamson was attorney for the plaintiff and C. L. Darlington represented the defense.

The personnel of the jury, Harvey Crowell, foreman, Mary Hawkins, Kate E. Ledbetter, T. A. Dean, Stella Bishop, Meda Gowdy, R. E. Carr, Alice Compton, Susie Barth, Mab Matthews, Ophelia Rodgers, and W. Kaiser.

IMPERIALS PROMISE STRONG GRID ELEVEN FOR THIS SEASON

The Xenia Imperial football team will be in the field again this fall with a strong eleven averaging around the 150 pound mark. This will be the third straight season for the Imperial bunch and players are hoping for a successful season.

Practice was started about two weeks ago and about 21 turned out rying for positions on the Irish outfit. The locals have been working two nights a week and on Sunday mornings. Next week lights will be installed at Washington Park and the Imperials will work out there three nights a week getting in trim for the opening game of the season which will be played Sunday October 5. All teams will be played at Washington Park and the writer, who is manager of the team, will bring some high class teams to Washington Park if the fans will support the club.

The Imperials have such men as Lawrence Purdom, who starred at light end for the Central High team in 1920 and 21. Purdom played under Joeches Young and Katherman. He was picked by many to be the best all Ohio High School end in the state. Purdom played with the Imperials last season so he is no newcomer.

"Mike" Beals another Central High star will be found at one of the tackles. Beals is a bear on the defense and has had plenty of coaching, playing with the local high school four seasons.

Gene Wead who starred last season with the Lancaster Questions is out at half back and end, Wead, although, little light in weight is hard, fast and shifty. A broken hand has been a big handicap and since it has healed better work is looked from him.

"Butch" Genger, basketball star and who was injured last season with the Imperials, is out for the center position. Butch should make a good one as he has the weight and other qualities.

At quarter will be found "Mickey" McFadden another Central High prospect. Mickey played at quarter back for three seasons for Central and now it from A to Z.

Lucas, who had experience with the S. S. Marine football team during the war will more than likely hold down the other tackle or guard. He is a outwork on the defense.

Carl Cowan, who played on Central High championship team and also starred for the K. A. A.'s last year is out for end. He is a steady player and a good end.

Frank Leakey, another of last season's players is out for half back. Frank can also play quarter having played with the American Legion team of this city. His name is good and more than likely he will be called upon to do most of the heavy work.

Ralph Foley, who will captain the Imperial outfit this season, will play one of the halves. Foley is small but shifty. His running is high class.

John Rachford is also with the squad and is trying out for center. "Red" Heery, who does best at plugging, is out for the backfield. Earl Miller will probably play one of the ends or tackles. Willie Rachford is out for the backfield while "Happ" Davis is trying out for fullback. Jim Killeen and Scoop Gordon are working hard to win places on the line.

POINTER NOW AT LOGAN FAIR

Silver Pointer, owned by J. W. Faulkner, of this city, and driven by the well known local trainer and driver, Joe Hagler, is mentioned as one of the three outstanding favorites in the 2:09 pace, the feature harness racing event Saturday at the Logan County Fair at Bellefontaine.

The best races of the fair week are scheduled for Saturday and the 2:09 pace will have entered some of the best horses of the country.

Silver Pointer, Frank Worthy, and Rambler, one, two, three in a stake event of Friday, are favorites for the race.

CEDARVILLE 11 PROGRESSING

The Cedarville College football team is making rapid progress in its conditioning before the season opening contest with Mariham at Cedarville, Saturday, October 4.

As this is the only game to be played at Cedarville this season, interest in the contest is running high. It will also be the first game under the regime of the new coach, Deiderich, who is making a big hit at the Reform Presbyterian school.

Result of the scrimmage with the Central High eleven was satisfactory to the Cedarville mentor. The scrimmage gave the Cedarville coach a chance to pick many flaws in his lineup and the practice session was of benefit to both squads.

George Fudge, Rearick, Neville and Roach have all been practicing hard. The first named is backing the Imperials and is secretary of the club.

The Imperials are being coached by Lawrence Rachford and under his regime the team should do well.

The team will hold another still scrimmage at Washington Park Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and all members are requested to be on hand in uniform. Any others wishing tryouts also report.

MERCHANTS TO MEET YELLOW SPRINGS TEAM

The Xenia Merchants will play what will probably be their final contest of the season Sunday afternoon at Dickerson Park against the Yellow Springs Athletics.

The Yellow Springs nine has made an enviable record on the diamond this season, and expects to annex the Sunday fray.

Brewer and Bowser are expected to form the Athletics' battery, while either Jones or Lewis will perform on the mound for the Merchants with Ewing receiving their slants.

The will be little change in the Merchants' lineup it was announced by Manager Rickman. The game will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock with competent officials in charge.

The Merchants have made a fine record this season holding victories over some of the best baseball teams in Springfield, Dayton, Eaton, Richmond, Ind., and other cities, and having strengthened their team during the last two weeks, by the addition of several new players who will probably get into the game, the Merchants are confident of adding another victory to their long string of wins.

XENIA BOY TO PLAY TACKLE WITH MUSKIES

Robert Ballantyne, former Central High School football star, was among the twenty-six men from Muskingum College who left New Concord for Case University at Cleveland, Friday morning, for the Saturday game, and will undoubtedly start the Case tilt at his favorite position at right tackle.

The New Concord eleven has been pushed steadily by Coaches "Bill" Lange, "Red" Stone, Johnny Leach, Keach, "Mose" Morehead and Thomkins, who have been urging and driving the best out of every man.

Two Muskingum tackles are crippled for the first game of the season, on top of the fact that they were hit hard by graduation last Spring leaving but three regulars in position for this game.

RESERVES TO PLAY MIDDIES HERE- SUNDAY

A first class baseball attraction will be staged by the Xenia Reserves Sunday afternoon at Washington Park, when the Middies, formerly known as the Post Town Indians, will oppose the locals.

The Middies have a classy outfit as they won their first game of the season in a ten inning battling by a 5 to 4 score, and their second contest by an 8 to 7 score, this time in twelve innings.

Strengthened considerably by the addition of several new players in their lineup, the Reserves are bent on copping the Sunday tussle.

The Reserves hurler has not yet been announced for Sunday's game as Manager Chambliss has signed up another new pitcher to work with Cyphers.

Sunday's contest will start at 2:45 p.m. and all fans having rain checks, will be permitted to use them.

Manager Ewing wishes to thank all fans for their patronage this season.

and announces that the Sunday game will be the last of the season, as the football season will get under way Sunday, October 5, with this sport as the attraction at Washington Park.

MA STRIBLING TO BE WITH BOY

Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 27 — When Young Stribling, Georgia school boy fighter, enters the ring Thursday night, October 2, at North Side Field for a twelve round decision bout he will have as his second between rounds "Ma" Stribling, his mother, who never gets very far away from her distinguished son. The officials who are promoting the show were requested to send an additional fare for Mrs. Stribling who makes it a rule to be behind Billy in all his fights.

North Side field is being covered over with canvas to insure a comfortable arena regardless of the weather. Extra seats are being built at the field and when completed the seating capacity will number over the 10,000 mark.

The advance seat sale indicates that the largest crowd that ever attended a boxing show in this city will be on hand when Stribling and the New Jersey heavyweight clash. Prices for the show are ringside $7, while other seats are available at $5 and $3. The general admission price is $2. Tickets are on sale at Koors 29. Hoppies at the Lindsey Building and Schwab's Smokery Third and Main Streets.

REUTINGER IS PLAYING WELL AT CAPITAL U.

Edwin Reutinger, former Central High School football star under Jerry Katherman, who entered Capital University this fall, has been showing to advantage according to reports from the Columbus institution and although a new prospect, may help solve Coach Katherman's difficulty in bedding his team into haps for the first game of the season with Ohio Wesleyan University, at Delaware Saturday.

The former mentor of the local high school, is being forced to face another discouraging factor due to the fact that new injuries are cropping up every day, and many of his regulars are out of the scrimmage practices. Katherman is constantly shifting his lineup in order that every player may find his best possible position. In the scrimmage practices during the last few days the coach was able to find many weaknesses, and although the new men are showing up as well as could be expected, the veterans are not coming around into their old form and the coach is working them every possible minute to have them in shape for the Delaware tussle.

TWO KILLED WHILE INSTALLING RADIO

Barberton, O., Sept. 26-Radio today claimed its first victims in Summit County when Mike Rabith, 35, and Steve Tackas, 22, were killed when the aerial they were putting up came in contact with a high voltage electric wire.

Mrs. Tackas and Rabith's son, aged 13, were severely burned.

The men were raising the aerial to get better results from their radio sets. One of the wires had been rubbing against an electric cable. Suddenly the insulation was worn through and Rabith and Tackas, who were holding the aerial in their hands, dropped to the ground screaming and writhing, and unable to drop the wire which was killing them. Rabith's son and Mrs. Tackas seized a board and tried to assist the suffering men, and both were knocked a dozen yards by the current and severely shocked and burned.

COUNCIL OF SUNDAY SCHOOL STARTS ON WINTER CAMPAIGN

The executive Council of the Greene County Sunday School Association, composed of the following members: the Rev. Walter B. Leis, Fairfield, O., president; Miss Bertha Day, Jamestown, executive secretary; J. Harry Nagley, Xenia, treasurer; Mrs. Shelton, Yellow Springs, Miss Rachel Ankeney and H. C. Aultman, Xenia, met last week and started fall work, looking forward to county-wide religious educational work this year.

The county has been re-districted and is now divided into five districts. It is thought more effective work will be possible because of the larger districts.

The president of the county organization, with a state worker, the Rev. E. E. Barnhart, spent last week going over the county and setting up a temporary organization in each district, electing temporary chairmen, and other business. The following chairmen were selected: North-west district, Joseph Yost; South-west district, the Rev. E. E. Walley; Southeast district, A. L. Fisher; East district, Mrs. Lile Connor; Central district, H. C. Aultman.

The task before the county organization is the securing of delegates to attend the State Sunday School Convention, Zanesville, October 7, 8, 9 and 10. It is hoped Greene County may be able to send its full quota of delegates. All delegates should get credentials from Miss Bertha Day, Jamestown, executive secretary of the county.

After the state convention a definite county program of religious education will be promoted by the county association. The slogan for the next two weeks is "On To Zanesville."

GREASE LAMP 100 YEAR OLD DISPLAYED

Years ago, before the time of electric lights, before the time of gas lamps and even before the era of oil lamps, the only system of artificial light was supplied by what was known as "grease lamps," that is, a small copper contrivance, hollowed out filled with grease, in which a wick was immersed, and suspended from a nail or carried in the hand, as was once the case when candles were used altogether.

A relic of this bygone age has been preserved by Mrs. Isabella Hutchison, of this city, and has been placed in the display window of the Greene County Hardware Store. The antique is over one hundred years old, but has not aged in appearance nor lost any of its luster.

The contrivance, made of pure copper, has a small chute connecting the lid and bottom of the box, on which the wick was placed, surrounded with grease and protruded from the lamp.

BEFORE BABIES WERE BORN

Mrs. Oswald Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Girardville, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my last two babies came. It keeps me in perfect health and I am on my feet getting meals and doing all my housework until an hour before the baby is born. A friend told me to take it and I have used ten bottles since I heard about it. I recommend the Vegetable Compound whenever I can. Just yesterday a friend was telling me how miserable she felt, and I said, 'If you start taking Lydia E. Pinkham's you will feel fine. Now she is taking it.'—Mrs. P. J. OSWALD, JR., 406 W. Ogden St., Girardville, Pa.

Mrs. Nicola Paluzzi Says Mishawaka, Indiana.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness before my babies were born. I was weak and tired out all the time and it helped me. When I had inward inflammation the doctor treated me, but it did not help me, so I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and it helped me right away. I will always have your medicines."—Mrs. NICOLA PALUZZI, 415 E. Broadway, Mishawaka, Indiana.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Luxury of Love by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

MARY HAYWARD, a famous beauty, has gone through the form of a marriage with SIR NIGEL CAVENDISH, although she is in love with BRUCE GILLIAN. Cavendish knows that she does not love him, but urges her to remain with him for six months, promising that he will allow her to have the marriage annulled at the end of that time and return to Gillian. Gillian goes to Alaska and Mary and Nigel spend their honeymoon in Venice, with WILMA RAYMOND, an old friend of Nigel's, and her husband. Neglecting his business interests in England, Nigel insists on going with Mary to the Raymond's ranch in Canada.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT XXXIV—MARKING TIME.

MARY hardly dared to let herself look into the future during the next few days. She was determined not to be discouraged, and the only way that she could be sure of not being so to remember the promises from which she had got so much comfort. She was reading in her own room one afternoon when Wilma Haymond came in, knocking on the door with one hand and opening with the other.

VIOLET DARE

"I'm so restless," complained Wilma. "And I'm so unhappy. If only I had everything, as you have, I'd be perfectly contented. What are you reading? Oh, the Bible!" with a little laugh.

"Yes, I often read it," Mary answered quietly; she was embarrassed but was determined not to show it. "That seems funny; you, a society girl and a famous beauty with a fortune at her command, reading the Bible. Have you suddenly got religion? I heard a while ago that Body Mowbray had, and was quiet changed."

"I don't know that you could call it that," Mary replied. "Mrs. Mowbray was awfully good to me, and helped me to see that things in the Bible can be applied to our every day life here and now, and I've found that she was right. They've comforted me and made me feel sure that no matter what a person's difficulties are, they can be solved if the person just has faith and does his best to do right."

"Sounds terribly churchy to me," remarked Wilma with a yawn. "If I thought that there was anything in it that helped a person to make more money I'd sit up nights to read it, but I'm inclined to think that financial troubles are outside the line. Well, that's a thing that doesn't worry you; Nigel has money enough to give you whatever you want."

Mary said nothing. She did not know how much Wilma knew of the situation that existed between her and Nigel.

"You haven't any real cause for unhappiness yourself, Wilma," she remarked after a moment, and Wilma turned around sharply from where she sat at the desk, idly marking on a blotter. "Any real cause? Only that we're dead broke and have been ever since we married, simply because my husband insists on investing what money he has in all kinds of crazy schemes! Why the very clothes I wear are paid for by—" she broke off suddenly, then went on, more slowly—"they're paid for out of the money I win at bridge and baccarat. Oh, it's a ghastly way of living! You certainly are lucky, having all Nigel's money behind you. You don't realize how lucky you are."

"But money really doesn't give you happiness," protested Mary. "I used to think it would make me perfectly happy to have all I wanted, but I've found that I was dreadful mistaken. People who hardly know where their next meal is coming from sometimes are so much happier than I am right now."

She paused, realizing that Wilma was looking at her curiously. She had said too much, Mary told herself; she could not trust this other woman. She rose suddenly, eager to break off the conversation. "This is no day for staying in the house and moralizing, it is!" she exclaimed. "I'm going for a ride; won't you come along?"

"Heavens no; I loathe riding, except when there's some special inducement," answered Wilma curtly. "Not that your company wouldn't be an inducement, of course—but I'd rather have it here than somewhere out on the trail."

"I love to ride," answered Mary, selecting the riding boots that she wished to wear.

"You would; you like to do anything that's good for the figure," retorted Wilma cattily. "It must be dreadful to be a famous beauty and have to think of your looks all the time. I never give my complexion a thought."

She left the room then, and Mary laughed softly, but her maid made a vicious little face at the departing Mrs. Raymond.

"That woman is the most jealous," she began, then with a shrug of apology, returned to her task of twisting Mary's hair into a tight coil that would fit under her riding hat.

Mary rode far that day, delight-

ing in the sharp, clear air and in the wonderful scenery, determined not to let Wilma's maliciousness annoy her. Nigel's attitude was greater cause for worry, but a strange peace seemed to settle over her, a conviction that the battle was not hers to fight, since she had done all she could. Within herself she had found a peace that made everything seem clear.

She got off her horse and stood looking down a precipice into the valley below, wondering if she could ride down the path that wound down along the mountain's side. Suddenly she saw Wilma Raymond and Nigel come around the edge of a great boulder, and snunter along the path; they seemed to be discussing something earnestly. At first she thought of calling to them; then Nigel put his arm around the woman's waist, and bent as if to kiss her, but she twisted out of his embrace.

She turned away, angry at first, until she realized that she had no right to be angry. Nigel was free to do as he wished. She mounted again and walked her horse most of the way back to the cabin. She felt uneasy, as if someone had told her Nigel and Wilma were plotting together against her.

Tomorrow—Unexpected Interference.
